

Volunteer for the Unite for Families Clinic

Help educate families about their legal rights and responsibilities as you develop your client interviewing skills and fulfill pro bono graduation requirements.

After a brief orientation, students will work under the supervision of a Levitt & Quinn attorney, and in partnership with staff from Jenesse Center, to:

- interview clinic participants about their legal issues
- consult with the clinic supervising attorney to craft personalized legal plans and referral packets for clinic participants
- give legal advice under attorney supervision
- work closely with social justice professionals committed to providing high quality legal help to low-income communities

Clinics run on Tuesdays from 3:00 to 7:00 pm at Jenesse Center’s Leimert Park office. Here are the upcoming dates:

2017	2018
October 3	February 6
	April 3
	July 10

Levitt & Quinn is committed to language access and recruiting volunteers fluent in languages other than English, with Spanish being the most common.

To volunteer for this clinic, please download and complete the form found at levittquinn.org/volunteer, and indicate in the “Tell us why you want to volunteer at Levitt & Quinn” box that you are interested in the Unite for Families Clinic. Email the completed form with your resume and cover letter to volunteer@levittquinn.org. We look forward to meeting you!